

APPLICATION PROCEDURES
Master's Double Degree Program in Graduate School of Engineering between
The UNIVERSITY of STUTTGART
and
TOYOHASHI UNIVERSITY of TECHNOLOGY
For the Academic Year 2023

1. Admission Policy for Toyohashi University of Technology

The mission of Toyohashi University of Technology (TUT) is to provide technological education in addition to quality research with the aim of furthering innovation in the science and technological fields. Based on this mission, our Master's Program endeavors to foster global, advanced-level engineers and researchers who are practical, creative and possess leadership skills; pioneers who can contribute to the sustainable development of society and undertake ground-breaking research that leads the next generation of technological advances. We also value social diversity and embrace active collaboration with the local community. Through these efforts, we aim to establish ourselves as a top-class engineering university that is open to the world.

TUT extensively recruits the following types of applicants:

1. Applicants who care for humanity and the environment, and strive to make contributions to both local communities and the global community as a whole
2. Applicants who aspire to acquire expertise in technology and science, and possess the basic academic abilities necessary for that study
3. Applicants with a capacity for independent study, thinking and action as well as the desire to open new horizons in technology and science

Admission Policies for Designated field of study in Master's Double Degree Program

[Mechanical Engineering]

The Graduate Program in Mechanical Engineering aims to nurture students with practical, creative and leadership skills, enabling them to become world-class engineers to meet the challenges of an increasingly complex and globalized society. The program emphasizes mastering novel methods and technologies for the promotion and development of a sustainable environment on a global scale. The program seeks the following types of applicants:

- Applicants who wish to develop the skills required for planning and leading independent research based on an in-depth understanding and practical ability of the fundamental principles of mechanical engineering
- Applicants who wish to develop skills based on studies outside of the classroom and thereby contribute to societal development by earnestly devising solutions to demanding technical and social problems
- Applicants who wish to develop advanced analytical abilities, enhance their judgment skills, communicate complex and intricate concepts to both technical and non-technical audiences

2. Number of students to be enrolled:

Majors	number of students to be enrolled
Mechanical Engineering	Up to 5 students for one academic year

3. Qualifications for application:

This program is open to those candidates who have “Student” status of residence under the “Immigration Control and Refugee Recognition Act” of Japan, or who can change their status of residence to “Student” after enrolling in the university, and also to those pertaining to all of the following items (1) and (2). Candidates who have Japanese nationality or permanent residence status are not eligible. However, candidates with dual nationality who hold Japanese nationality are eligible to apply as long as they obtain “Student” status of residence by the date of their arrival in Japan.

- (1) Those who attend the Master Course of the University of Stuttgart, and who have been nominated by the University of Stuttgart.
